1911 County Paper Tells of Deaths in Mines

HISTORY: Murray Lawyer, a paint man and not an attorney, brought in a Saline County Register for Friday, Oct. 27, 1911, which is 43 years ago for those of you who don't want to get a piece of paper and subtract.

What struck me was the mine fatality list in those earlier days of mining. Tragedy still strikes, but not so often.

Big story of the weekly issue was about eight men dying in an explosion at O'Gara No. 9. They were Joseph Austin and son, Dan; Samuel Barnaby, Alfred Bowen, Oscar Parks, Frank Steckor and William Stringer.

Also killed between issues was Charles Premies at O'Gara 1 by a fall of coal; Robert A. Dunn and Ed Edwards by a fall of slate at Galatia mine; and a man named Meyers at O'Gara 11 in Eldorado.

ART: Here on my desk is a beautiful piece of work. It's a candle, believe it or not, but it's elegant. The only way I can tell it's a candle is by the wick sticking out of the center of a deep red rose.

This rose has been made out of candle wax, its leaves out of green and the petals of deep red. It rests on a rectangular base to resemble glistening snow.

This particular item was made by Polly McKenzie, Fern Gall and by Harriet Bean, whose husband, Ed, proudly brought it to the office to show it off. They are members of the Candlelight Home Bureau unit and its members learned to make these and similar articles out of candle wax. Snowballs, Santas and firelogs are among the things made.

SCIENCE: That light around the moon that was mentioned a few days ago? The one about which this department expressed ignorance? I got the answer by mail yesterday.

It was sent by Aubrey Bishop of Rudement, who inserted a clipping from another newspaper. The clipping said:

"Did you notice that extraordinary wide white circle around the moon Sunday night? Many folks did and wondered what caused it. Investigation develops that this was caused by a reflection of fine particles of ice which was probably located about eight or ten miles above the earth's surface."

MONKEY: The monkey mentioned in this column a couple of times is dead.

A Cottage township farmer came into the office to report that he killed it. But he didn't know it was a monkey.

His dogs were attracted to it and he saw an animal which he thought was a groundhog, he said. He fired and discovered he had killed the monkey.

The animal had been spotted at intervals since Thanksgiving Day and maybe it's better that the end came the way it did than for it to have frozen to death.

PORT: Postmaster A. M. Hetherington calls attention to a printed postoffice form which will help the P. O. personnel during the Christmas rush.

It's called Form 1500 and can be used for groups of cards for local delivery or for out-of-town delivery.

Patrons are asked to separate their Christmas cards—those for local and those for out-of-town addresses—and arrange them so that the addresses all face one way. Then they may be tied in bundles with one of the labels of Form 1500 being placed on top of each bundle to indicate whether or not local delivery is involved. Twine should be used, tied both ways.

The forms are available free of charge at the postoffice.

Doctors Find Pope Weaker, Recovery Halted

Five Specialists
Called as Pontiff
Suffers New Hiccups

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A team of doctors found today that Pope Pius XII is weaker and his recovery has halted.

Five specialists consulted at the bedside of the ailing 78-year-old pontiff in an atmosphere of urgency resulting from a recurrence of the hiccups which have plagued him repeatedly for many months. It was the third examination in five days.

The Pope was suffering from a mild case of anemia in addition to the new attack of hiccups, it was disclosed. The progress which brought him back from a brush with death 12 days ago had halted, doctors said.

His pulse was reported fluctuating slightly.

Authoritative sources said the doctors decided during a 45-minute conference at the Pope's bedside this afternoon to speed efforts to take X-rays for diagnosing his ailment.

Condition Stationary

The sources said the doctors confirmed that the Pope's condition was "stationary."

The doctors found that although the Pope was a bit weaker than a few days ago, there has been no deterioration in his general condition.

There was some unofficial anxiety over his failure in the past 48 hours to record the progress he had shown steadily ever since his collapse Dec. 2.

The sources said the doctors hoped to make an X-ray of the Pope's stomach Wednesday or Thursday with equipment moved into the papal apartments this morning.

Woman Says Loneliness Led To Embezzling

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—A motherly, silver-haired cashier at the Pfister Hotel coffee shop has confessed that "unhappiness and loneliness" drove her to embezzle $23,000 from the coins and dollar bills that flowed across her counter.

Mrs. Ethel Ray, 54-year-old grandmother, broke down and wept uncontrollably Monday before she was arraigned and bound over for trial.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joseph E. Tierney arranged that bond be set at a "token" $1,000 because "I feel sorry for her."

He estimated, however, that further investigations may show the amount Mrs. Ray embezzled totals $50,000.

Mrs. Ray, a well-dressed "model" employee, said lack of appreciation and love from her two married daughters and grandchildren drove her into her career of embezzlement.

"Everybody was dependent upon me, and I had no one to depend on," she sobbed. "My family did not appreciate me at home and I shut myself in my room because they wouldn't speak to me."

She lavished her money on her children, she said, buying a $10,000 home for one daughter and her tubercular husband in Milwaukee and a $7,500 home for the other daughter in Kansas City, Mo.

Some of the money went to buy her a $500 fur coat and to ease her loneliness, she said.

She thought she should go out more often, she told officials, and therefore paid for 100 lessons in ballroom dancing at $8 each.

Before moving to St. Louis where he was with the civil service, he was employed in Harrisburg at the old No. 2 mine.

He was born near Stonefort on Jan. 30, 1882, to William B. and Molly Reed. He married Mercy Fletcher in St. Louis over 30 years ago.

Besides his wife he leaves one brother, Frank Reed, also of St. Louis.

The body will remain at the Gaskins funeral home.

Arthur R. Clark, 77, Prominent in Local GOP, Dies

Was in Hardware
Business
Here for Years

Arthur R. Clark, long a figure in Saline County Republican politics, died yesterday afternoon in St. John's hospital at Springfield and his body was being returned here.

Mr. Clark, 77 years old, was in the hardware business in Harrisburg for years and held a number of political appointments, the biggest being United States marshal.

His body was being brought to the Turner funeral home where it will lie in state and the funeral will be held there Friday at 11 a. m. Burial will be at Clay City, Ill. Born in Wichita, Kansas, Nov. 28, 1877, Mr. Clark came with his family to Illinois, where his father, T. J. Clark, was prominent in Republican politics and was a member of the Southern Illinois Penitentiary Board of Commissioners for nine years.

Arthur Clark served as superintendent of the commissary department at the penitentiary at Chester from 1901 to 1906, resigning to become associated with John H. Duncan of Marion in the hardware business. Then he came to Harrisburg to manage the hardware store.

Later this business was taken over by the Clark-Martin-Hawkins Hardware Co., a firm he organized and he became its president. He continued to operate this store until 1950.

During his entire adult life he was active in Republican politics. March 1, 1927, he was appointed U. S. Marshal by President Calvin Coolidge, the appointment being recommended by U. S. Senator Charles S. Deneen. This was one of the first major appointments ever to come to Harrisburg and Saline county and The Daily Register of that day commented: "The United States marshal is a clear case of the office seeking the man."

For approximately eight years he served as a parole officer under Gov. Dwight H. Green and he was elected delegate to the Republican National convention in Philadelphia in 1940.

Always one of the leaders—and for a long time the chief figure—in county Republican Central committees, he served as a member of this group for years, last holding a post in 1952. At the time of his death he was an employee in the office of the secretary of state in Springfield.

Surviving are his wife and three children. His wife is the former Rose Snider, a former teacher in Saline county who was living in Carbondale when they were married.

The children are Mary Margaret Barry of Cleveland, Ohio, Eugenia Maud Duncan of Marion and Virginia Brenner of Golconda. His first wife, Maud V. Clark, mother of his three children, died here Dec. 4, 1949.

Other survivors are three brothers, Harry Clark of Harrisburg, Paul Clark of Kansas City, Kansas, and Stanley Clark of Quincy, Ill., and a sister, Alma Dickman of Jacksonville, Ill. A brother, Leon Clark, who lived at Clay City, Ill., is deceased.

The Rev. L. J. Flemister, former pastor of Mt. Pleasant Baptist church of this city, died at 12:45 p. m. Monday at the Veterans hospital in Marion.

His body is being shipped to Cedar-town, Ga., where the funeral will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the East Point Baptist church.

Rev. Flemister leaves his wife, Artilla, and four children: Lois, Christine, Lewis and Carolyn; one brother, Sam Flemister; two sisters, Mrs. Aurelia Palmer and Mrs. Allie Holiday, all of Cedar-town, Ga., and a host of relatives and friends. He was preceded in death by one daughter.

Demos Refuse Commitments To Support Ike

Bi-Partisan Meeting
On Legislation
Held at White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic congressional leaders said after a bi-partisan legislative conference with President Eisenhower today that they wanted more details before committing themselves to support the administration's foreign policy and national defense programs next year.

The Democrats described the White House meeting as cordial and constructive.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) said the Democrats recognized the need for action at the next session of Congress on a long-range foreign trade program, improvement of the defense manpower situation and a pay raise for the military.

Johnson also indicated Democratic sympathy for some form of economic aid to Asia, but he said Mr. Eisenhower and his advisors had reached no decision on such a program.

Await More Information

In such a situation, Johnson said, the Democrats would have to await further information.

Republican and Democratic leaders of both houses, plus ranking members of the Foreign Affairs, Armed Services and Appropriations committees, conferred with the President, key Cabinet members and the White House staff from 8:30 a. m. to 11:50 a. m.

Johnson, speaking for the Democrats, said the administration presentation of 1955 legislative needs in the foreign and national defense fields was in such general terms that he felt that congressional committees would require much additional detailed information.

Rep. James P. Richards (D-S.C.), prospective head of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said bi-partisan cooperation doesn't mean the Democrats are going to agree to everything the President recommends. He warned the President to start appointing more Democrats to key federal jobs if he wants Democratic support.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), who will head the Senate Armed Services Committee, said before today's session he would oppose any "substantial" direct economic aid for Asia if the administration recommends it.

There also was strong Democratic opposition to the administration plan, announced late Monday, to push for a boost in first, second and third class mail rates.

Mr. Eisenhower spent all day Monday giving his GOP leaders a rundown on his 1955 program, including his intention to ask that excise and corporation tax cuts scheduled for April be postponed.

Fire Destroys Barn With 1,000 Bales Hay

A barn on the Teal property near Rudement rented by Guy DeNeal and containing 1,000 bales of hay was destroyed by fire late Friday.

The barn is near the DeNeal farm.

It was not certain how the fire started.

MOTHER OF TWO KILLED

Mrs. Milton Fuller, 25-year-old mother of two children, was killed in the bedroom of her Brinkley, Ark. home while her husband dozed on a couch in the living room.

The husband, an auto agency owner, told police he found his wife dying on the bedroom floor shortly after he was awakened by a "thudding noise" in the house. Investigators sent bloodhounds on the trail of a "tall man" identified as "wearing one shoe."

Meet Your County Officials—

THE SALINE COUNTY CIRCUIT CLERK'S office is an extremely busy place these days as oil activity in the county increases. Monday morning, when this photograph was taken, there had been sixty oil leases and 45 assignments left at the office to be recorded. Mrs. Mildred Flannigan of Galatia has been added to the office force as a result of the additional work. Circuit Clerk Quentin Bowers was elected to office in 1952. Left to right are Mrs. Sharon Farthing, Carrier Mills; Mrs. Flannigan; Mrs. Louise LaBaw, Harrisburg and Circuit Clerk Bowers of Eldorado.

State Police Busy Preparing Public for Safe Driving Day

State police were busy today at highway intersections preparing the motoring public for Safe Driving Day, which is tomorrow.

On cars are being placed stickers which state: "No Accident Today. S-D Day Dec. 15. Illinois State Highway Police."

Truck drivers are being given mimeographed letters from the Central Motor Freight Association declaring that "the trucking industry is backing S-D Day with an all-inclusive program that includes YOU."

GOP Must Draft Eisenhower, Hagerly Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—White House Secretary James C. Hagerty believes the Republicans must draft President Eisenhower to run in 1956.

He thinks any other course would be "foolhardy" because Mr. Eisenhower is "the man best suited" at this time in our history to guide the affairs of our nation.

Hagerty expressed these views during an interview on the Mutual Broadcasting System's "Reporters Roundup" Monday night and emphasized he was voicing his own personal opinion. He said his words should not be interpreted as indicating "what the President is going to do."

The subject came up when a reporter asked if it would be "foolhardy" for the Republicans to approach the 1956 elections with any idea other than a "draft Eisenhower" movement.

"If you want my own personal opinion," Hagerty replied, "I think the answer to your question would be that it would be foolhardy."

He said he assumes there are "quite a few" Republicans who qualify for the "moderate progressive" label Mr. Eisenhower has attached to his administration.

"My whole feeling on this is that I believe that the President is the man that is doing the job, that is needed at the present time for our country, both at home and abroad," he added.

Truman Receives $58,000 Check For Library Fund

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman heads home today with a $58,000 check from the Pennsylvania Committee for the Truman Library Fund.

The check was presented to Mr. Truman at a banquet here Monday night and raised the total of contributions to the fund to $70,500. The library is to be built at his home in Independence, Mo.

Although the former President discussed politics at a press conference earlier in the day, he declined to take any potshots at Republicans during the $70-a-plate dinner.

The more than 800 guests, including Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and Gov. elect George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, shouted "Give 'em hell, Harry." But the former chief executive confined his remarks to the importance of collecting and cataloging presidential papers. He stated that scholars and historians then would be able to understand why presidents took certain steps.

Motorists Face Eisenhower For Safety Record Wednesday

By United Press

Midnight tonight will be H-hour for S-D Day—a day when the President has challenged the nation's motorists to get through 24 hours without a single traffic accident.

Safety experts, police, and city and state officials aimed new appeals to drivers throughout the country to face up to the presidential challenge and set an all-time safety record Wednesday.

Cities bet each other that their safety records would be better and "S-D" signs appeared on trucks, police motorcycles and even parking meters.

S-D Day—short for Safety Day—was thought up by a man who almost died in a traffic accident last March—Albert J. Veglia, registrar of motor vehicles for the state of California.

It was sponsored by the President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety and Mr. Eisenhower told the nation's drivers that if they practice common sense rules, Wednesday "can be a day without a traffic accident in all America."

Safety experts doubted if the record will be spotless. But they hoped for a dramatic demonstration of how safe the nation's highways can be with a little special effort.

On the comparable day last year—Wednesday, Dec. 16—there were 4,907 traffic accidents in the United States. Sixty persons were killed and 1,807 were injured.

Last Wednesday a United Press tabulation showed an even worse record—67 persons killed and a probable 2,144 injured.

As the deadline approached, it

Horning Challenges Carbondale, Eldorado, Carmi on Safe Driving

Cities throughout the state of Illinois have been requested by the Chicago Motor Club to stress Dec. 15 as Safe Driving day by challenging neighboring cities to meet their safe driving record.

Harrisburg's Mayor Ralph Horning has issued a challenge to Carbondale, Eldorado and Carmi and Harrisburg in turn has received such a challenge from the mayor of Marion.

"Whereas the Governor of our State has asked all of the communities in Illinois to support this worthy effort,"

"Now, therefore, as mayor of the City of Harrisburg, I hereby proclaim Wednesday, December 15th as 'S-D Day' in this community, and ask all citizens to drive and walk on this day so as to keep the entire 24-hour period free of traffic accidents."

In pledging support for the program, Mayor Horning said:

"This is an opportunity for every citizen to join in a common effort against a common enemy: the traffic accident toll. He can help as an individual, and as a member of groups with which he is associated: his church, his PTA, his club or fraternal society, his union, his association—and all individuals and organizations can and should participate actively."

"Most of us are not aware how serious the traffic accident problem has become, or how much it concerns everyone of us. Yet, there probably is not a man or woman of this community who does not have a neighbor, a friend or a member of his family who has been injured in a traffic accident at some time."

"Tomorrow let us do the very best we can to give our attention to observance of the letter and spirit of all traffic regulations; be courteous to every driver and pedestrian; and giving full attention to driving and walking."

"In short, drive and walk as you would have everyone else drive and walk. If we can do this just one day, perhaps we will realize how important it is to do likewise every day."

The judge released Floyd under $10,000 bond pending an appeal.

Youth Fined

Donald Kilgore, 16, Eldorado, today was fined $100 and costs by Judge Trafton Dennis on a charge of reckless driving and $14 in the court of Justice of the Peace Vern Joyner for having no driver's license following a chase last night by State Policeman Adolph Sweat after the youth was caught racing on Route 45 near Muddy.

Refuse Release Of 35 Students For 11 Airmen

Gen. Clark Claims
Communists Hold at Least 944 as Hostages

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States will not enter any "deal" with Red China for the release of 11 American airmen jailed as "spies," diplomatic sources said today.

Peiping Radio hinted that it might consider trading the 11 Americans, principal subjects of a United Nations' demand for the freeing of illegally held war prisoners, in exchange for 35 Chinese students refused exit permits by the U. S.

The U. S. has refused to let the 35 students, who were in the country when Communist China entered the Korean war, return to their homeland because they are experts in electronics, chemistry and physics. All three fields are important in development of atomic energy.

The American position was disclosed shortly after a statement by Gen. Mark W. Clark, a former Supreme commander for the United Nations in Korea, in which he said that he knew the Chinese Reds were holding at least 944 Americans as hostages.

Also holding money

Clark said the 11 American airmen and two civilians sentenced by the Peiping authorities on "espionage" charges were "less than 2 per cent of the Americans I could identify, and could prove, the Reds had been holding."

Washington sources said the U. S., in turning down any proposal for a "deal," also would not release the 130 million dollars of Chinese assets in this country frozen when the Peiping regime entered the Korean war.

Despite hints from the Peiping radio that Mao Tse-tung's regime was ready for a deal, there was no sign of a reply to U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's bid for face-to-face talks on the release of the American airmen and all other personnel of the U. N. Command still held by the Chinese Reds in violation of the Korean armistice agreement.

With almost four days elapsed since the proposal was cabled to Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai last Friday, U. N. officials were giving thought to the possibility of "prodding" Peiping with a follow-up message.

Hammarskjöld is Criticized

There was a growing belief here that Chou's eventual reply would be couched in conditional terms, possibly demanding a complete review of Red China's relations with the U. N., in exchange for agreement to talk on the fate of the war prisoners.

Hammarskjöld's dramatic gesture still was under fire in some quarters. Official Nationalist Chinese newspapers in Formosa today branded it as "improper" and "silly."

Radio Peiping called the U. S. refusal to give exit permits to the 35 Chinese students "a flagrant violation of international law."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
They had all things common. — Acts 4:32.

After pentecost many of the faithful were fugitives, many gave full time to spreading the new gospel, so their capital was consumed and the means of production was lacking. It was worth while, though, for many years thereafter collections had to be taken for the poor in Jerusalem.

For Safer Driving

Tomorrow is Safe Driving Day, as proclaimed by the President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety, with numerous national organizations cooperating.

It is Mr. Eisenhower's way of drawing attention to one of the country's thorniest dilemmas. As he said last winter: "When any particular activity in the United States takes 38,000 lives in one year, it becomes a national problem of the first importance."

This is not the place to discuss all the many proposed remedies for the problem. Suffice it to say that a fair share of them seem to lie with the motorist himself.

The burden is on him, clearly, to make himself responsible, cautious, attentive to road conditions, alert to possible defects in his car, aware that the vehicle he drives can become a weapon of death through one second's carelessness.

Neither the President nor anyone else proposes that Americans drive safely only tomorrow. But do drive safely tomorrow — and make it a model for each of the other 364 days of the year.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Ike Ignored Advisers In Turning Check On McCarthy: "Brazil Will Boom" Says Secretary Humphrey: Hatemongers Exposed By Un-American Activities Committee.

WASHINGTON. — President Eisenhower got a lot of private advice as to how to handle Joe McCarthy's bitter attack, but he himself made up his own mind what to do. Those who saw Eisenhower in his press conference after McCarthy's barrage never would have guessed how sore Ike was when McCarthy blustered him. White House friends say the President was purple with anger, though he did not say a word.

One of the advisers, Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen, urged that Ike speak out, name names, and call the score on McCarthy's various phony pronouncements regarding communism.

Stassen reminded Ike that Dean Acheson, when secretary of state, had first ignored McCarthy's charges of communism in the State Department, figuring that the American public would not be taken in by them. But McCarthy's Hitlerian tactic of repeating the same charge over and over again eventually sank home and few people realize today that McCarthy has named one Communist in the State Department.

Stassen reminded Eisenhower that his administration should not make the same mistake.

The President listened carefully, but decided otherwise. The President also listened carefully when Republican Chairman Leonard Hall discussed the "McCarthy crisis" before Ike met with newsmen last week. Hall, who has leaned toward McCarthy in times past, felt Joe should be appeased and not be permitted to bolt the administration.

But Eisenhower did not appear overly impressed with Chairman Hall's discussion. He listened, but did not even tell Len what he intended to do.

SOUTH AMERICAN PROSPERITY

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, returning from the Inter-American Conference in Rio de Janeiro, told friends:

"If I were only 25 years old, I would go to Brazil by the next boat, working my way if necessary, and I guarantee you by the time I was 40, I would be a millionaire."

Humphrey's brief trip to South America convinced him that Latin America is on the threshold of phenomenal industrial development. He suggests that, if American businessmen are wise, they will put more investment dollars south of the border than in other parts of the world.

The economic progress of some of these nations, Humphrey says privately, will amaze the world in the next 20 years.

HATEMONGERS

The House Committee on Un-American Activities will soon publish a sensational, but tragic, report on "Neo-Fascist and Hate Groups," a subject the committee has ignored for almost 10 years.

The report singles out the National Renaissance Party for possible prosecution under the Smith Act; and also blasts the hate-mongering paper "Common Sense." This is the first official suggestion for applying the anti-subversion statute to a Fascist group during the act's 15-year history.

The committee found that "the program and propaganda of the National Renaissance party is virtually borrowed wholesale from the Fascist and Nazi dictators."

The little Hitler in charge is a "young fanatic," James H. Madole, of 10 W. 90th street, New York City, whose sneering boast is that "what Hitler accomplished in Europe, the National Renaissance party shall yet accomplish in America."

The party is replete with a "uniformed elite guard in the Nazi style," the report goes on, though a bolt of lightning has replaced the swastika as the party symbol.

The committee sums up NRP's aims as "preservation of the white Aryan race by gradual deportation of the unassimilable, the denial to Jewish people of citizenship, professional and political posts and the right of intermarriage."

While avowedly anti-Communist,

NAR isn't above sweet-mouthing the Red line when it serves its purpose. It praised the anti-Semitic purges in Prague two years ago and agrees with the Communists that "the economic and political ambitions of a small coterie of Wall Street bankers" are pushing the U. S. into war. And it has high praise for "the superbly efficient totalitarian economic systems of the Communists."

"COMMON SENSE"

Second target of the Un-American Activities Committee report is the anti-Negro, anti-Semitic hate sheet, "Common Sense," which has blasted about every prominent American including President Eisenhower, whom it labels a "Marxist stooge."

"The solution customarily offered by publisher Conde McGinley Sr. to 'save America,'" says the committee, "is an increase in the circulation of 'Common Sense.' It is apparent that the publication represents a modern example of racketeers who made a business out of hate propaganda during the 1930's."

The McGinleys also do a good business hawkings hate books and pamphlets from their headquarters in Union, N. J. Paid subscriptions to "Common Sense" jumped from fewer than 10,000 to more than 20,000 during 1951, the year of the Korean war.

The Un-American Activities Committee winds up its indictment of these two Fascist threats with this appeal: "The committee is convinced that there is a concurrent need for continuous investigation, exposure and, where necessary, prosecution, to the end that no activity of a pro-Fascist nature will ever be permitted to gain substantial stature or influence in the United States."

Note—The committee had not held a hearing on the subject of Fascism since January, 1946, when it looked into Gerald L. K. Smith's operation. Smith's influence and wealth have grown considerably since then.

Shirley Shewmake Wins Prize for Guessing Gift For Two-Headed Person

Winner of a $10 gift certificate at Skaggs pharmacy was Shirley Shewmake, 601 South Webster, who was the only person to guess the proper gift for a two-headed person in Skaggs' "double-header" guessing contest.

The contest required guessing of the proper two-headed gift, a nationally advertised article which was on display at Skaggs at the time, and which turned out to be Double Dandierine hair treatment. Although there was only one correct answer, several imaginative guesses were turned in, such as vanishing cream, to get rid of one of the heads, and also a Bromo-Seltzer with two straws.

REDS HOLD TRIAL—This is a photograph of a picture as it appeared recently in a Red Chinese newspaper (unidentified) in Hong Kong. The caption for the picture indicated that the photo showed eleven of thirteen Americans as they faced Chinese Communist "judges" recently and were given sentences ranging from four years to life imprisonment for "spying and criminal acts that jeopardized the security" of Red China. In November, the Peiping radio announced that thirteen Americans who dropped out of sight on air missions against the Communist in the Korean War had been sentenced by a Red Chinese court to prison terms ranging up to life on spy charges. The United States immediately initiated what it termed "the strongest possible protest" against the Chinese Communist Government and took the case to the United Nations as a violation of the Korean truce agreement. Pankeyville Baptist Naomi Ruth Class Has Party

The Naomi Ruth Sunday school class of the Pankeyville Baptist church held its annual Christmas social Thursday night at the church. Other classes of the Sunday school were invited to join them and quite a large number was present to enjoy the delicious dinner served from tables beautifully decorated in keeping with the Christmas season.

In the center of the table was a huge cake with the lettering "Merry Christmas Pankeyville Baptist Church." The cake was a present of the pastor and his wife.

Mrs. Ruth Gates, vice president of the class, was in charge of the regular business and devotional meeting which was opened with the group singing "I Am Thine O Lord."

Mrs. Alta Norman and Mrs. Betty Daniels led in prayer after which Mrs. Nancy Sadler gave the devotion reading the Christmas story as found in Luke the second chapter.

Everyone present was asked to quote a scripture verse. Rev. Ray Daniels then dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Gifts were exchanged and everyone received a present from beneath a beautifully decorated Christmas tree.

The class members brought fruit and Christmas goodies for boxes for the members of the extension department.

The January social is to be held at the home of Mrs. Ruth Gates.

Those present were: Rev. and Mrs. Ray Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Moyer, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Norman, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Shell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Waddell, Mrs. Lois Lane, Mrs. Betty Norman, Mrs. Oma Myers, Mrs. Blanche Shacklett, Walter Hayes, Miss Gertrude Wasson, Miss Donna Moyer, Miss Yvonne Lane, Miss Camilla Mattingly, Miss Janice Norman, Miss Shirley Frohock, Miss Dorothy Waddell, Miss Carolyn Hayes, Jack Norman, Jerry Lauderdale, Jerry, Charles and Philip Moyer, Denver Long, Mary Waddell, Gary, Karen and Steve Sadler, Janet and David Allen, Brenda Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Kallie Sadler and Mrs. Stella Wallace.

Rebekahettes

Entertain Prospects

At a recent meeting of the Rebekahettes, Theta Rho Girls club No. 8, a party was held for girls interested in becoming members of the organization. Invitations were sent to these girls and 15 who were interested attended, were entertained and served refreshments by the regular members of the club.

The program was opened by Barbara Upchurch and Elaine Whiteside singing "Bless This House." Carolyn Herron and Judy Morse pantomimed "Sisters." Janice Stiff sang "Joey," and Carolyn Price gave two pantomimes, "Come On My House" and "Love Weather for Ducks."

Janice Stiff entertained by singing "Blue Moon" and Barbara Upchurch and Elaine Whiteside sang a duet, "Sometimes I'm Happy." The program was closed by Barbara Dunn singing "Ave Maria."

After the program, the president Carolyn Herron, presented the club's adviser, Mrs. Mildred Booten, who is completing her term as senior adviser, with a gift in appreciation of her help and guidance and as a token of congratulation of her recent marriage.

Refreshments of cookies and hot chocolate were enjoyed.

Egyptian Shrine

Initiation Thursday

At a special meeting of Egyptian Shrine No. 56 Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem new members will be initiated into the order in a ceremonial Thursday evening very appropriate at this Christmas season. The tenets of the order are based on the birth of Christ and his life, thus making the initiatory work very impressive.

Following the work there will be refreshments and a Christmas party held in the dining room of the Masonic temple with a fifty-cent gift exchange. The ceremonial will be at 7:30 p. m.

Chapter Z, P. E. O., Holds Christmas Party

Mrs. C. E. Combe was hostess to chapter Z, P. E. O., at its regular meeting and Christmas party held Friday evening with 29 members present.

The Combe residence was resplendent with Christmas atmosphere—the Nativity scene was before a beautifully decorated tree, many and unusual candles which Mrs. Combe had brought from abroad, and lovely plants of poinsettias. This, together with the colorfully wrapped gift packages beneath the tree, made an ideal Christmas setting.

The refreshment committee added another colorful note of ingenuity in serving salad in grapefruit baskets, nestled in greenery and red bows adorned the handles, together with these strips, sweets and coffee.

Following a welcoming speech by Mrs. Lloyd L. Parker the program chairman, Mrs. Robert Metcalf introduced Mrs. C. E. Taylor who talked on "Christmas Magic—the Annual Miracle," telling how at this time of year we forego selfish thoughts, replacing them with plans for the happiness of others, and a rebirth of the spirit of Him whose birthday it is.

Also in keeping with the Christmas theme, Mrs. E. E. Montgomery talked on the "Magical Quality of Love." It was brought out that at Christmas time our hearts are especially full and the giving of gifts, which dates back to those given to the Christ Child, is an expression of Love. Also, that with the far reaching interests of today, this spirit of love is needed more than ever before.

Montgomery read from the 13th chapter of I Corinthians and concluded that one cannot lack love and still remain a Christian.

Following a gift exchange, group singing of Christmas carols was conducted by the entertainment committee. Special numbers included vocal duets and an octette.

Christmas Meeting by Naomi Sunday School Class

The Naomi Sunday school class of McKinley Avenue Baptist church held its Christmas meeting Thursday, Dec. 9, with a potluck dinner. Christmas decorations made the table and surroundings beautiful and after a bountiful meal, at which Mrs. Mollie Ervin gave thanks, the regular meeting was held.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Henry Hendren using Luke 2 as scripture; prayer was by Mrs. Jane Gasaway, and roll call and reports on the building fund were given by the president, Mrs. Bob Powers, and Mrs. Ollie Fulkerson. Members were entertained with a skit by Mrs. Ada Rann, Mrs. Earl Hicks, Mrs. Eva Rodgers and Mrs. Ruth Wheeler, stressing giving to the poor. There was an exchange of gifts which had been placed under a beautifully decorated tree.

Twenty-one members and two visitors were present as follows: Mrs. Mable Meadows, Mrs. Nancy Fowler, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Martha Asbridge, Mrs. Lillie McElrath, Mrs. Carrie Jackson, Mrs. Carsa Gardner, Mrs. Mattie Rodgers, Mrs. Gertrude Hutchinson, Mrs. Nora Maddox, Mrs. Lula Malady, Mrs. Vellie LaMar, Mrs. Ollie Stricklin, Mrs. Josie Barrett, Mrs. Ruth Gaskins, Mrs. Mary Walker, Mrs. Jane Gasaway, Mrs. Ollie Fulkerson, Mrs. Bob Powers, Mrs. Gertrude Hendren, Mrs. Mollie Ervin, and visitors, Henry Hendren and Kirt Gasaway.

Alice Lewis, formerly of Harrisburg, now employed as office manager and dental assistant to Dr. Dean Funk, at LaCrescenta, Calif., arrived in St. Louis via plane Sunday where she was met by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Lewis. She is spending her Christmas vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, who reside at 213 North Granger street, and will be here until after the holidays.

Officers Installed by Carrier Mills Rising Star Chapter, Order Eastern Star

The forty second annual installation of officers of the Carrier Mills Rising Star chapter No. 717, Order of the Eastern Star of Illinois, was held Friday evening, December 10, in the Carrier Mills Masonic temple.

For this solemn occasion the hall was beautifully decorated with bouquets of white chrysanthemums. A small lighted Christmas tree graced the piano, and pink candles in silver candelabra spread a soft glow, adding to the effect. Single candles were placed at the star points. Each officer received her charge before an altar draped in white satin and centered with an open Bible.

Mrs. Irma Jean VanMeter sang "You'll Never Walk Alone" after which Mrs. Muriel Thomas, retiring past worthy matron, gave the welcoming address.

Installing officers were Mrs. Grace Henson, installing officer; Mrs. Nola Monroe, installing marshal; Mrs. Oma Baker, installing chaplain; Mrs. Marlene Johnson, organist; Miss Joan Henson and Mrs. Irma Jean VanMeter, soloists. Escorts were George Henson, Orval Blackman and Lee Ferrell.

Republicans Meet to Organize '55 Legislature

SPRINGFIELD — Republican senators gathered here today to organize for the 1955 session of the Illinois Legislature.

Arthur J. Bidwell, 51-year-old River Forest veteran who was elected to his sixth four-year Senate term Nov. 2, was the leading candidate for president pro tem—GOP majority leader.

The post has been vacant since Sen. Walker Butler, Chicago, was elected to the bench. Sen. George E. Drach, Springfield, has been acting president pro tem since then.

Another major topic up for discussion at the session, which was slated for tonight at a downtown hotel, was whether to cut down on the number of standing committees in the Senate.

There were 28 committees two years ago. GOP chairmen of eight won't be back in 1955, due to death, retirement or defeat at the polls, so a reduction in the number of committees could be made without stepping on many toes.

Republicans will organize the 1955 Senate since they will hold a 32-19 majority.

Benson Junks Tough Control Farm Program

WASHINGTON (UP) — The last remnant of a super-tough farm control program went out the window today as Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson decided that drought and the flexible price support law made the program unnecessary.

Benson told a news conference Monday that the "cross compliance" provision of the program, scheduled to go into effect next year, was being junked along with its partner, "total allotment," which was dropped last fall.

He said proposed limits on commercial vegetable plantings scheduled for next year also are being removed.

The "cross-compliance" provision would have required farmers to comply with all of the individual crop allotments set for their farm to get price supports on any one crop. The vegetable limitations would have barred plantings on acres idled by controls on basic crops as a protection to traditional commercial vegetable producers.

When Benson proposed the toughest-ever control measures last summer, he described them as a "necessary evil."

Since then, he said, Congress has passed the flexible support law, the drought has reduced production in some places, and "it was our best judgment" that the controls should be dropped.

TWENTY-SIX TO GO—Staff Sergeant Walter A. Sisky Jr., is shown above being sworn in for his second enlistment of six years by Major R. A. Walters, the McChord AFB recruiting officer. Walter has set his sights for thirty years in the Air Force. Walter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sisky, 704 South Ledford street. Before entering service he was employed by the Peabody Coal company. His Air Force occupation is a camera technician and he is presently assigned in the photo laboratory at McChord Air Force Base in Washington.

Judge Rules 'Test Tube' Babies are Illegitimate; Stirs Up Controversy

CHICAGO (UPI)—A tangled legal controversy, perhaps involving thousands of children, boiled up today in the wake of a judge's ruling that many "test tube babies" are illegitimate.

An appeal to the State Supreme Court was planned and a Chicago specialist called the ruling "very unfair." Two other specialists asked for new laws to clarify the status of artificial insemination.

The ruling was made Monday by Superior Court Judge Gibson E. Gorman in the case of a Chicago mother who seeks divorce and admits her child is the product of artificial insemination.

Gorman said a "test tube baby" is illegitimate if the donor is any person other than the mother's husband. A wife who submits to insemination from such a third party is guilty of adultery, Gorman said.

Artificial insemination is non-adulterous and the "test tube baby" is legitimate only if the husband thing, to make it right for him. He peered closely at the map.

"We'll lay out a route as soon as you feel up to it."

"I am ready to go when you are," Daggett called, hastily discarding the fiction of his illness.

"Not yet," Hannah wailed. "I've put a cake in the oven. I thought just once there would be time to do some baking and get a proper meal, a roast of beef and popovers and everything."

is the donor, the judge ruled. Gorman had been asked for a ruling on the subject by Charles C. Cooley, attorney for Mrs. Mary B. Doornbos, 36. She is suing her husband, George, 48, for divorce and demanded sole custody of her 5-year-old son on grounds that she is the sole legal parent.

Cooley immediately announced that he would appeal to the Illinois Supreme Court. Gorman's ruling, Cooley said, "declares thousands of children suddenly become illegitimate and their mothers adulteresses."

Dr. Sol T. De Lee of Chicago Lying in Hospital called it "a very unfair ruling, unjustifiable and very narrow."

De Lee, who testified during the hearings that he has performed 250 artificial inseminations, said the medical profession considers the practice morally and ethically sound.

Dr. Bayard Carter, president of the American Academy of Obstetrics and Gynecology, and Dr. Frederick H. Falls, president of the American Committee on Maternal Welfare, meanwhile issued a joint statement asking for new laws to clarify the situation.

"The medical profession feels that this is at present a legal problem which they would very much like to have settled and laws passed that would clarify the duties of the physician under such laws," their statement said.

Aren't Books Grand?

XXVI

Perhaps it was because Daggett was not well, perhaps it was the rain—a heavy, gray, discouraged sort of rain—that threw a pall over everything. For the first time, the holiday spirit was lacking, something of the sodden atmosphere crept indoors.

After breakfast, Greg closed the door of Daggett's room while he shaved him. He suspected that nothing was really wrong, that the old man was doing a spot of malingering to make Hannah believe that she was needed, but it was not a subject Greg intended to broach.

It was Daggett who asked, "Hannah isn't going to leave us, is she?"

"She hasn't said anything about it," Greg straightened up the little room without looking at him. Daggett peered at the park which was rapidly becoming a sea of mud with dark puddles forming in it. Rain fell on the two other trailers, a large fancy one and a medium-sized trim one.

"And to think," Rupert burst out from the doorway, with the first trace of irritability he had displayed, "that we have driven for weeks through land where a man could put down roots, where he could stay his life long. What is wrong with these people?"

"If Americans hadn't moved on," Kirby chimed in lightly, "we'd still be sweating it out in Europe. So, as a matter of fact, would you."

"Sweating it out." There was a red glint in Rupert's narrow eyes. "What does a phrase-monger know about sweating it out? Lap dogs are always protected."

Startled by Rupert's venomous tone, Kirby looked at him in a frank astonishment. Greg knew that there was no possible meeting ground between the two men because there was no way of making a bridge between the insouciant Kirby, whose only problem was his complete rejection of personal responsibility, and Rupert, whose world had been destroyed, who walked on mined ground, who could find stability nowhere but within the walls of this mobile house.

"What," Kirby complained amiably, "makes this guy such a sore-head?"

Daggett was watching in distress. In one unexpected way after another he had managed to gather around him four people who interested and amused him immensely. Now, with an emotional crisis looming between Greg and Hannah, with Rupert and Kirby at odds, his experiment was threatened.

Hannah pushed Rupert aside, sleeves rolled up to reveal rounded arms, face flushed from cleaning the kitchen.

"Every one of you get out of Uncle Wade's room. You are upsetting him just because you are cross from being penned up. One more word and I'll push the whole lot out in the rain."

Rupert looked at her indignant face and smiled. "You are quite right. I have been behaving badly." He settled himself on the davenport in the living room and switched on the radio, keeping it tuned low. In a few moments he called with his usual cheerfulness, "What is a slogan?"

"The war to end war," Greg said.

"The instrument of the immortals," Daggett put in.

"It's cornbread—it's canned—it's canned—it's Crain's," Hannah made her contribution. "Though, honestly, the stuff is no good."

"What was that one about the cornbread?" Rupert demanded, and Hannah repeated.

"Do you mean," he asked with incredulity, "that someone paid $5000 for six words?"

"What do you mean — $5000?" Greg asked.

"I just heard on the radio that there is a prize of $5000 for the best slogan for Crain's Canned Cornbread. How do you begin?"

"First," Daggett suggested, "you sample the cornbread."

"Not if you want to be able to write about the stuff," Hannah warned him.

"Then how?" Rupert insisted.

Greg smothered a grin. The idea of Rupert developing an advertising slogan for his stepfather amused him. With his customary reticence he had never mentioned, even to Daggett, his relationship to Horace Crain.

"There's your chance," he said. "You are hip on getting into big business and making people want something. Try cornbread. But if you'd really like to hit the jackpot, work out a new kind of television program."

"Perhaps I will do that. Businesswise I am in the groove." And the general irritation was washed away on a wave of laughter.

Daggett, who had been turning idly the pages of his battered Montaigne, wondering what was the use of more books when everything had been said by Montaigne anyhow, put down his book. His deep voice boomed unexpectedly, "We are going to the Badlands; to be specific, we are going to Dead Man's Gulch."

Greg turned to look at him; the old man met his eyes half defiantly, half boldly.

He's scared, Greg thought. The poor old guy is afraid to see the place again. We've got to do some-

Prized Pearls
The world's most prized genuine pearls, worth a small fortune each because of size, shape and luster, consist of virtually worthless common pearls—common calcium carbonate formed around the egg of a tapeworm, a fragment of seaweed, or a grain of sand.

Looking AT Sports

By ED KIRKPATRICK
If you, dear reader, took time to fill out and mail in a "You Pick 'em" blank last week, the following may prove interesting. If you didn't, join in our innocent little pastime this week, and perhaps we can list you with the winners come next Monday or Tuesday. Well, we sharpened the red pencil and set about checking the first week's activities, and here are the results.

Jim Killman, 1014 South Land street, Harrisburg, took top honors the first week, and our hat is off to you, Jim. Killman, Ira Stille, 927 Barnett, and John C. Coffee, Shawneetown, wound up in a photo finish, each missing only one of the twelve games we listed. We rated Killman top honors, as he was only 13 points off on the Game of the Week. On this one, Jim picked Harrisburg as winner 61-52, over Carrier Mills. Coffee's lone miss came on the Hbg.-CM tussle, and he was 24 points off the score. Ira missed the score by 29 points. Killman's miss came on the Harrisburg-Benton game, and Stille's on Marion's overtime loss to Mt. Vernon.

Incidentally, Killman went further than we asked last week and listed us scores for every game. He only missed the Herrin-Johnston City fracas by one and the Centralia-W. Frankfort scrap by three. That's callin' 'em.

Jim Braddock, South State street, Eldorado, missed only one, but Jim forgot to list us a winner for the Harrisburg-Benton game. Therefore, we had to place him with the two-missed class. We had several in this group. They were: Our own cohort, Bill Melton, Lyle Lee, Galatia; Rolie Moore, Harrisburg; John Bishop, Route 4; Eddie Quade, Harrisburg; M. W. Winters Jr., Shawneetown; Junior Manier, Stonefort Route 2; and W. P. Webb, Raleigh.

Harold Hefner, 927 West Barnett, came closer than any one to the correct score of the Harrisburg-Carrier Mills game. Hefner put down Harrisburg, 69-63—just six points off. Melton was a close second, missing by only seven.

Here are some other interesting sidelights on the picks. No one missed more than seven. Several missed only three. The Hbg.-Benton game seemed to cause the most trouble, 16 missing on the outcome of this one. Twelve missed on the Hbg.-CM game. No one failed to guess the Shawneetown-Pope Co. game correctly, yet pickers failed on all the others at least once. Virgil Lambert's blank from Lawrenceville came the greatest distance. Not a single female was among our pickers.

And now we're about ready to turn you loose on a second week. But before we do, let us review the simple rules for those who didn't participate last week but want to join in this week. Looking at Sports merely runs a blank each week listing ten or twelve of the area's top games. You pick the winners. On the game we list as "Game of the Week" you also pick the score. Mail or bring your blanks to the sports department, c/o Daily Register. Be sure if you mail the blank that the envelope bears a postmark no later than Thursday. Also, check over your blank before sending it, you may have overlooked a game. No prizes are awarded; it costs nothing but your time to enter. If two in a family wish to enter, make a separate blank on another sheet of paper and mail.

Okay, here we go again. This should be easy... only ten games this week. Here they are and good luck:

Elect New Board
At Annual Golf
Ass'n Meeting
The annual meeting of the Egyptian Golf association was held Sunday afternoon at the Kurto Country club.

A new board of directors was elected as follows: Harold "Toby" Pelhank, Lowden Pankey, Charley Skaggs, George H. Davis and Wilbur Barger.

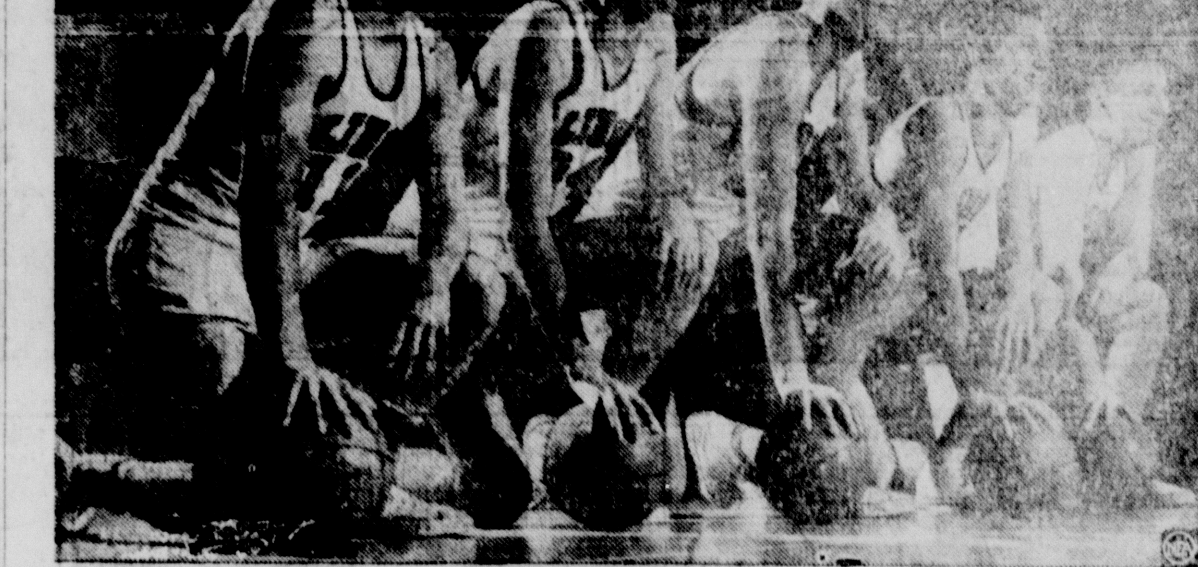

The retiring president, Jack Davenport, will be an ex-officio member in a general advisory capacity and Atty. Don Scott, retiring board member, will also serve in a general and legal advisory capacity.

The newly elected board members will meet Thursday at the office of Atty. Scott to organize and elect officers for the coming year. Other business to be discussed, it is said, is the membership drive for the 1955 season.

At Sunday's meeting the by-laws were amended to provide for terms of the board of directors to be one, two, three, four and five year basis and the newly elected members will decide the length of their respective terms.

The amendment also provides for only one term to expire each year and that no director can succeed himself.

It is said the treasurer's report indicated the association, in its first year, had operated on a sound financial basis.

Illinois Five Surprise to Coach Combes

CHAMPAIGN—Illinois' young basketball team, ranked third in the nation after three straight victories, has surprised Coach Harry Combes as much as it has most fans.

"I don't know what to expect from this bunch," Combes said. "It's a young squad with two sophomores and three juniors in our starting lineup, but they really want to play ball."

"I'd say we've got a better bench than we had last year, even though we're more inexperienced," he said.

Illinois was ranked third in the United Press poll Monday on the basis of its victories over Butler, Missouri and Oklahoma A&M.

After the Illini beat Missouri, 77-49, the Tigers upset Indiana and Iowa, and Monday night added Wisconsin to their list of Big Ten scalps.

So far sophomore George Bon Salle, a center from Chicago at 6 feet, 7 1/2 inches, has been the key man for the Illini.

"He looks pretty good," Combes said, "but he's green and has a lot to learn. He doesn't move as well as you would like, and certainly he's not as fast or agile as Johnny Kerr. But he's developing pretty well."

The second soph to earn a starting job was Bill Altenberger, a 6 foot, 1 inch guard from East St. Louis. Juniors Paul Judson, Bruce Brothers and Billy Ridley complete the first five.

"It's hard to put your finger on what's made them go," Combes said. "Maybe we'll know more in a couple of weeks."

Missouri Dumps Wisconsin; SMU Beats Indiana

By United Press
Missouri continued its mastery over Big Ten teams Monday night by dumping Wisconsin, 67-56.

It was Missouri's third consecutive win over Big Ten opposition. The Tigers previously stifled Indiana and Iowa after an opening game loss to Illinois.

Southern Methodist upset defending Big Ten champion Indiana, 83-78, on the Hoosiers home court, indicating again that the Big Ten title race is going to be a wide open affair this season.

Iowa got back on the victory trail in a third non-conference tilt, defeating St. Mary's of California, 68-49, at Iowa City.

It was the Hawkeyes 64th straight non-conference victory on their home court.

All-America center Don Schlundt hit for 41 points in the Hoosiers loss to SMU. The Mustangs from Texas hit on 46 per cent of their shots from the field.

Missouri's top p p e d Wisconsin's Dick Cable with 12 points.

HTHS Freshmen Lose to West Frankfort

The West Frankfort freshmen defeated the Harrisburg freshmen, 38 to 23, at Davenport gym last night.

A second quarter in which Harrisburg did not score a point was disastrous to the locals.

Coach Jim McKee's starters were Ray Hassett, who scored 6 points, Bob Clark who scored 8, Bill Yates who scored 4, Don Biggs who scored 4 and Eddie Price who scored one. Other players were Bob Murrie, John Bill Pierson, Ira Logan, Lloyd Banks, Mickey Stone, Jerry Hicks, Kinch Jones, Jon Frohock, David Burnham, Dale Bryan, Zan Hefner, Jack Simpson and Bill Erris.

Next contest will be at Marion next Monday night.

Dissatisfaction Grows Against TV Game of Week

By United Press
A growing dissatisfaction with the football television policy of the National Collegiate Athletic Association may produce a revolt by several major conferences next season unless there is a change in the current "Game of the Week" program, a United Press survey revealed today.

Led by the powerful Big Ten which wants a regional television policy and is ready to put it into effect "with or without the blessings" of the NCAA, there also was open opposition against the current program by the Pacific Coast conference, and some degree of dissatisfaction in the Southwest and Missouri Valley conferences.

Even the staid Eastern College Athletic conference, which generally goes along with NCAA policy, voted in favor of some major modifications to the Game of the Week plan. However, in general the ECAC endorsed it.
